

Invitation to participate in a special issue of the Texas Public Health Journal

Call for Papers

MINORITY & RURAL HEALTH DISPARITIES RESEARCH

The Texas Public Health Association Journal® is currently seeking original research articles, reviews, and case reports for a special focus issue on minority health disparities to be published in December 2010. Articles of interest should be research focused on racial and ethnic minorities:

- Be relevant to Texas Public Health and Minority Disparities
- Add to existing public health practice and research
- Be well written and scholarly

Articles are due on or before October 1, 2010

Special Guest Editors:

- Dr. Jeffrey Guidry
- Dr. Jane Bolin
- Dr. Monica Wendel

Program for the Study of Minority
Health Disparities
Texas A&M HSC & Texas A&M

Minority & Rural Health Disparities including: access to care, equality of care, nutrition status, environmental justice, chronic diseases, rates of infectious diseases, including HIV/AIDS, maternal & infant mortality rates, building research capacity; health disparities education and training; and increasing the pipeline of health disparity and minority investigators

Complete manuscript guidelines can be found on the journal page at

<http://www.texaspha.org>

Submit manuscripts electronically to Dr. Catherine Cooksley, Editor, at both cdcooksley@gmail.com AND Txpha@aol.com. Insert "TPH Journal submission" in the subject line